

Blogs

Learning Intentions :

- to learn about the various types of blogs on the Internet
 - to learn how to post to a blog appropriately
 - to define selected vocabulary

Dear Sam,

I keep hearing about blogs.

What is a blog?

Thanks,

Erin

A blog is...

a website

written in a diary style.

What is a blog?

Usually a blog will have many entries.

The entries will be arranged in reverse chronological order.

Blog is short

for

Web Blog.

Use a blog as a way of keeping a personal journal or diary online.

Some people have blogs that are almost like
news sites.

A person might post recipes or stories.

There are:

- ❑ Fashion blogs
- ❑ Community blogs
- ❑ Science blogs
- ❑ Art blogs

Leave your comment:

Name: Tom

Message:

I love this recipe!

Submit

Having a blog is also a cheap and effective way for people to show their work on the Internet.

There are places on the Web you can go to sign up for a free blog.

Once you've started, you can post pictures, music, or writing on your blog.

Sam's Blog

Hope you like my new picture.

With an audio blog,
you can upload music
or other audio files
that anyone can download.

A photo blog is a blog
that features
photographs: kind of like an electronic photo album.

A video blog is the same, but for video.

Blogs first

popped up in the mid 1990s.

The first blogger was Justin Hall –
a college child
who blogged
online in 1994.

Today there are tens of millions of blogs!

Follow
My Blog

Follow
My Blog

Be careful what you post on your blog.

Never reveal any personal information

like your

name or other contact information.

Music Blog

Food Blog

Blogs

Book Blog

News Blog

What do these words mean?

blog: _____

Chronological _____

journal _____