Lee was walking to the shops when he heard his friend call to him from across the street.

"Hi Lee," said Sam. "Where are you going?"

"Mum has asked me to go to the shops for her. She wants me to buy some eggs, milk, potatoes and cheese," Lee replied. "Do you want to come with me?"

"OK. I can get a magazine while I'm there."

The two friends wandered off to Northland Shopping Centre in Margate together, chatting while they walked.

David could hardly contain his excitement!

"Hooray!" he called out, as he leapt out of bed.

Today was his birthday and he had been looking forward to it for months. Last week, his mum asked him to write a list of gifts that he might like and he had chosen a game for his console; some packs of trading cards; a new skateboard and tickets to see his favourite band.

As quick as a flash, David raced downstairs in his pyjamas (taking the steps two at a time), and saw a pile of presents on the kitchen table.

"Happy birthday!" everyone shouted.

"Thanks," he replied and he gazed at the colourful bags and boxes in front of him. What would he find inside them? He couldn't wait to find out...

Gold - answers (Did you miss anything out?)

"I's time to go!" Sarah called.

"I'll be there in a minute," replied Sam.

"We have to go NOW!" Sarah screamed.

Sarah and Sam were twins. They fought like cats and dogs, but they loved each other deep down. Their parents were taking them on holiday to their favourite place - Disneyland Paris. It was meant to be a surprise but Sam had found out when he spotted the tickets in the glovebox of his dad's car. His mum was really annoyed when she found out that the surprise had been ruined but she didn't stay mad for long.

"What ride shall we go on first? Will it be busy? Can we go again next year?" asked Sam excitedly.

"We haven't even been this year yet!" said mum with a chuckle.
